Very dissapointing, no one online for multiplayer, EVER. Air Conflicts Secret Wars is better :). Console port style controls. Throttle is buttons only.

If you have a flight stick, forget it.

If you want a flight sim, play something else.

. This does not support standard PC joysticks, do not purchase this software. I recently purchased the new Ace Combat and that would not work with my Logitech Extreme joystick and the game required that you have a Thrustmaster Hotas 4. Had a little extra cash so went out and bought the game dumb\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665that I was. The joystick experience sucked. Then purchased Damage Inc which would not work with either my Logitech nor my new Thrustmaster. Low and behold postings now say that this will work with another vendor specific joystick (MadCatz). Steam continues to allow vendors to sell flight sims with vendor specific controllers and this should not be allowed. Do not waste your money on Damage Inc nor Ace Combat. I have since requested a refund for both. Will never buy another flight sim from Steam again. In closing I wish they had different review comments, they have an option for Yes/No for recommending this game. They should add an option for no way in hell should you waste your money.. Nothing works on the game. I spent 46 minutes trying. example: Control confiuration had the following buttons (Nav)(Restore)(Back)(Select) none of them worked. There was absolutely no button, key, or joystick control that did anything to (thrust)(throttle) This thing is a total disaster and I want it removed from my library and my computer. Needless to say I am not going to pay 39 bucks for it. I'm not going to pay anything for it.

I will forward this information to VISA explaining the misrepresentation involved as spelled out above.

If you disagree with this contact me via email or 772 569 3350. This is an ok arcade flight sim. A little choppy but workable frame rates. It will do until someone makes a decent flight sim again.. Found it easier for myself to avoid playing it rather than trying to fit in in the control schemes provided (other problems aside). Make yourself a service and check out forums prior to buying, as it may save you some money. Also good idea would be to at least wait for a discount, if you have to test your luck.. Fun arcade style world war two flight sim. Has a large variety of planes and fun gameplay.. This has to be one of worse games I every play. The controls are limited and it's controllers are a joke.. When I tried my joystick, it froze out my thrusts. Don't buy this game. Look for something else. Pros: This is a very nice enjoyable combat simulator. Its' arcade style, but you can fly it with a joystick or gamepad. The game makers put a lot of effort in the missions. Some of them seem to actually have a historical source. In this game you get to dogfight in multiple World War 2 fighters. You can even choose to get into an Axis fighter to fight the Japanese. Also nice are the multiple views like 3rd person, from the hood of a plane or cockpit view. So you can always choose what you like. This game has a full campagne coop. Yes people you can play this game with 3 online team mates. So I had many hours of double fun with this game.

Cons: The game always starts with me in windowed mode. Also I have to adjust the settings for my screen in game all the times when I start this game. These are just minor bugs and more a nuisance then a real burdon. Also the volume in the game is quite loud making it difficult to hear my mates on teamspeak. So before I start this game I have to adjust the volume settings in Teamspeak. Also a minor bug.

All and all a very good game with nice graphics. It brought me back into the fierce combat of World War 2 Pacific theatre. Definitely a good bang(s) for a bug.

Too expensive for what you get, War thunder's much better, spend \u00a329.99 on warthunder.
